DEED RESTRICTIONS FAQ

WEBSITE: www.houstontx.gov/legal/deed.html

Deed Restriction Complaint Hotline: 832-393-6333

Deed Restriction Compliance Notice (for building permits):
www.publicworks.houstontx.gov/planning/enforcement/publications.htm

Why is the City's Legal Department involved in the enforcement of deed restrictions? Doesn't the City of Houston have zoning?

The City of Houston is not zoned. Therefore, it is in the City's interest to help with the enforcement of recorded deed restrictions for the protection of persons who purchase property in restricted subdivisions, for the benefit of all residents, citizens, and taxpayers of the City, and to promote the health, safety, morals, and general welfare of the City.

COH NO-ZONING LETTER: www.houstontx.gov/planning/forms/08NoZoning.pdf

HARRIS COUNTY ZONING/OCCUPANCY LETTER: hcpid.org/permits/docs/zone_letter.pdf

Is there one set of recorded deed restrictions for the entire City of Houston?

No -- deed restrictions adhere to subdivision lines. Example, the recorded deed restrictions for Oak Forest subdivision are valid for only those lots located within the platted area of that particular subdivision. Also note that within the platted subdivision, there could also be the possibility of different sections.

How do I get a copy of my deed restrictions?

Most people living in the City of Houston are located in Harris County. Please contact the Harris County Clerk's Real Property Records Office @ 713-755-6899 and request a copy. They are located at 201 Caroline, 3rd Floor, downtown Houston. You can review deed restrictions in person @ 201 Caroline (older subdivisions) or in the case of newer subdivisions you can review them at any HCC annex. If your property is in another county, contact the clerk's office of the county in which the property is located (example: the Montgomery County Clerk's Office would file deed restrictions for properties in Montgomery County) and request a copy. Fees may be charged for making copies- call in advance. Try and have the property's legal description (lot & block number, subdivision name) when requesting the records.

Who can lodge a complaint regarding an alleged deed restriction violation?

Any resident of the City of Houston can lodge a complaint with the Deed Restriction Enforcement Team - an individual, a neighborhood group, or a civic club representative. Please note that we will stay in contact with the complainant and if the matter goes to court, then we will request that the complainant appear as a witness for the City of Houston.

Does an abandoned vehicle qualify as a deed restriction violation that the Deed Restriction Enforcement Team can help with? How about a property that has an excessive amount of junk or debris on it?

No -- however, these matters do fall under the City's nuisance ordinances and can be reported to the Planning & Development Department's Neighborhood Protection Team by calling 311. The citizen will be given a tracking number. To check on the status of such complaint, the citizen should call 311 again and relate the tracking number. To speak to Neighborhood Protection directly, a citizen may call 713-218-5500.

How much does it cost to have the Deed Restriction Enforcement Team pursue a complaint?

$0 -- there is no fee charged.

After lodging a complaint, what further involvement is needed from the person making the complaint?

The Deed Restriction Enforcement Team relies on the complainant to keep it informed as to the daily activity of the violation. And if necessary, when the City takes the property owner and/or tenant to court, the complainant will be asked to appear as a witness at trial for the City. See our section on what the City needs to prove a deed restriction violation for more detailed information.

Can an attorney from the Deed Restriction Enforcement Team give advice to a private citizen or civic club regarding interpretation of recorded deed restrictions? Is that same attorney available to directly help residents of a subdivision renew/revise/or extend recorded deed restrictions?

No -- attorneys from the City's Legal Department may not give advice or offer an opinion (examples: interpret language in a legal document or provide advice on legal procedures) to private citizens or civic clubs. Individuals and organizations must seek out the services of a private attorney.

Is the amount of time that a violation has existed a factor in determining whether the City of Houston can pursue a property owner for violation of deed restrictions?

Yes -- if the property in question has been in continuous violation of deed restrictions since prior to August 1965, then the City cannot pursue a lawsuit to enjoin (stop) the violation. However, if the violation started after that date, the City does have statutory (meaning it has been given to the City by the Texas Legislature) authority to pursue a lawsuit to enjoin (stop) the violation.

What is needed by the Deed Restriction Enforcement Team to prove that a violation of deed restrictions is occurring?

Photographs, eyewitnesses, logs of activities, and documentary evidence are all examples. See our section on what the City needs to prove a deed restriction violation for more detailed information. We also have a downloadable activity log form that can be used by complainants.

How does the process work in regards to lodging a complaint?

Once the Deed Restriction Enforcement Team receives a complaint, through the mail, from a Council Member, or on the Deed Restriction Hotline, it obtains copies of the recorded warranty deed and deed restrictions for the property where the alleged violation is occurring (this is where the City establishes who owns the premises, that the property in question has valid deed restrictions, and that the activity being complained about is in fact prohibited by the deed restrictions). An investigation then establishes whether the activity being complained about is in fact taking place.

The matter then goes before a staff meeting of attorneys from the Deed Restriction Enforcement Team where the recorded deed restrictions, evidence (or lack of), and other essential factors are examined. It is at this point in the process that the decision is made to (A) send the property owner / tenant a Notice Letter informing him/her that he/she is in violation of the recorded deed restrictions, (B) send the original complainant a letter stating that the file will be closed and the corresponding reasons, (C) or that the matter needs further investigation. Before a lawsuit is filed against a property owner / tenant to enjoin (stop) him/her from violating the deed restrictions, the file is again taken to a staff meeting to ensure that there are sufficient witnesses (these can be neighbors affected by the activity, City investigators, or others with first-hand knowledge of the violation), and supporting evidence.

----- Please note that any assistance from the community (this could be the original complainant, the local civic club or homeowners' association, or any individual living in the affected subdivision) is greatly appreciated and an essential part of the Deed Restriction Enforcement Team's investigation. ----

GRANT RESOURCES

Statement on GOVERNMENT GRANTS from www.business.gov:

"The federal government does not provide grants for starting and expanding a business.

"Grants from the federal government are only available to non-commercial organizations, such as non-profits and educational institutions in areas such as, medicine, education, scientific research and technology development. The federal government also provides grants to state and local governments to assist them with economic development.

"Some business grants are available through state and local programs, non-profit organizations and other groups. For example, some states provide grants for expanding child care centers; creating energy efficient technology; and developing marketing campaigns for tourism. These grants are not necessarily free money, and usually require the recipient to match funds or combine the grant with other forms of financing such as a loan.

"If you are not one of these specialized business, both federal and state government agencies provide financial assistance programs that helps small business owners obtain low-interest loans and venture capital financing from commercial lenders."

SBA 7(A) Loans- All 7(a) loans are provided by lenders who are called participants because they participate with SBA in the 7(a) program. Not all lenders choose to participate, but most banks do. There are also some non-bank lenders who participate with SBA in the 7(a) program, which expands the availability of lenders making loans under SBA guidelines.

7(a) loans are only available on a guaranty basis. This means they are provided by lenders who choose to structure their own loans by SBA's requirements and who apply and receive a guaranty from SBA on a portion of this loan. The SBA does not fully guaranty 7(a) loans. The lender and SBA share the risk that a borrower will not be able to repay the loan in full. The guaranty is a guaranty against payment default. It does not cover imprudent decisions by the lender or misrepresentation by the borrower. Contact the SBA for eligibility criteria and details.

CONTRACT LABOR

HOUSTON ONE STOP BUSINESS CENTER, P.O. Box 1562, Houston, Tx. 77251-1562, Ph: 832-393-0954

SPECIFIC CRITERIA FOR DEFINING CONTRACT LABOR

TEXT FROM: www.twc.state.tx.us/news/efte/specific_criteria.html

Employers often confront these issues over short-term or as needed workers performing services for them. Any employer using what it considers to be "contract labor" should ask itself some questions up front:

Is the service provided by the individuals in question essential to, and an integral part of, the service the employer provides to the public?

The less able an employer is to offer its primary service without the help of the people whose status is at issue, the more likely it is that they will be considered employees. Consider this: if certain services are so essential to a business that it will stand or fall based upon how well those services are performed, the business will naturally want to exercise enough direction and control over the services to ensure they are good. That amount of control can make a company an employer of such workers.

What opportunity for profit or risk of loss is there for the worker? What kind of investment, other than his or her time, does the worker have in the enterprise?

An employee is paid for her time. She would not be expected to provide her own workplace, materials, tools, and supplies, or otherwise to invest her own money in the business. An employee who makes a costly mistake can be fired, but cannot legally be forced to work without pay. An independent contractor, on the other hand, is an independent businessperson with expenses of his or her own. He will be expected to provide or purchase everything he needs to do the job. If he fails to satisfy the customer, he would be required to redo the work for no additional compensation, or else face the risk of non-payment by the customer. These things create the opportunity for profit or loss.

What is the compensation arrangement? Is the compensation negotiated, or is it imposed by the employer?

A true independent contractor's main concern is her own bottom line, not that of the employer. Since she is responsible for her own overhead, including the hiring of any helpers she may need, there is always an element of negotiation in any bona fide contract for services. Usually, but not always, an independent contractor is paid by the job. It is up to him to figure out how much he needs to finish the job at a profit. If he miscalculates, the loss is his.

Does the individual provide his services to the public at large? Does he advertise his services in newspapers, the Yellow Pages, or specialized journals?

If a person holds herself out to the public as self-employed and available for work for any customer with whom she can negotiate an acceptable price, she is likely to be held an independent contractor. The more the worker advertises, the more it is apparent that she is in business for herself, since an independent business stands or falls based upon its business development efforts.

Is there a non-competition agreement?

Generally, non-competition agreements and independent contractors do not go hand-in-hand. Such a provision in a contract is strongly indicative of an employment relationship, chiefly because it proves that the services in question are directly related to the primary service provided by the employer. If those services were not related, there would be no "competition" and thus nothing against which to guard. The power to keep a person from pursuing his or her own business interests and to force a person to sign such an agreement is typical of the power wielded by employers over employees.

Does the worker provide his services on a continuous basis?

The more long-term, continuous, and exclusive the relationship is, the more likely it is to be employment. Independent contractors, on the other hand, generally perform their work one job at a time and are paid on the same basis.

Is the worker required to provide services under the employer's name? Does she represent herself to the public as being an employee of the employer? On whose behalf are the services performed?

If the general public would perceive the person to be a representative of the employer because of business cards, uniforms, or other advertising, this would be more indicative of an employee than an independent contractor. An employee performs services on behalf of the employer for customers of the employer. An independent contractor performs services on her own behalf for her own customers.

Does the employer retain the right to dictate how the work should be done? Is the worker required to work a certain schedule, to notify the employer if he will not come to work, or to get the employer's approval for any helpers who are hired?

When an employer contracts for outside services, it is normally interested only in the end result, not in the details of how the contractor performs the work. The employer should have no interest in how the independent contractor allocates either his time or that of his helpers. By the same token, the employer would have no interest in the contractor's right to hire his own helpers, beyond the right to contractually specify that anyone providing services on a project must be properly licensed under whatever laws apply to the work.

LEGAL BUSINESS STRUCTURES IN TEXAS

HOUSTON ONE STOP BUSINESS CENTER, P.O. Box 1562, Houston, Tx. 77251 - PH: 832-393-0954

The Filing Fee for Articles of Incorporation is $300. The Secretary of State (SOS) registers Corporate Names, Limited Partnerships, Limited Liability Companies, Certificate of Authority, Non-Profit Agencies, Statewide D.B.A's (name) and others. The legal structures for business available in Texas are as follows. Please note that the following information DOES NOT constitute legal advice.

For more information: www.sos.state.tx.us/corp

SOLE PROPRIETORSHIP

A sole proprietorship exists when a single individual operates a business owning all assets, is personally liable for all debts and business ownership is non-transferable. Under a sole proprietorship, the life of the proprietorship is limited to the life of the individual proprietor. The sole proprietorship makes no legal distinction between personal and business debts, and it does not require a separate income tax return.

GENERAL PARTNERSHIP

A general partnership exists when two or more individuals or businesses join to operate a business. Under the general partnership, a separate business entity exists, but creditors can still look to the partner's personal assets for satisfaction. General partners often share equally in assets and liabilities. The general partnership requires an annual partnership income tax return (separate from the partners' personal returns).

CORPORATION

A corporation is created when one or more individuals, partnerships or owners join together to form a separate entity for the purpose of operating a business in Texas. A corporation has its own legal identity, separate from its owners. The corporation safeguards the business owners' personal assets. Taxation of the corporation varies depending on the type of corporation formed- C Corporation or S Corporation. A C Corporation is often times taxed at a rate higher than an individual. The owners are not taxed personally for profits; however, the owners do pay personal taxes on any salaries and/or dividends and the corporation is also taxed on the dividends. Owners of an S Corporation may personally deduct losses the same as a partnership. The S Corporation also offers alternative methods for distributing the business income to the owners, and there is no added cost to the incorporation process.

LIMITED LIABILITY COMPANY, LLC

A limited liability company is an unincorporated business entity which shares some of the aspects of S corporations and limited partnerships, and yet has more flexibility than some more traditional business entities. The limited liability company provides its owners with limited liability and pass-through tax advantages without the restrictions imposed on S corporations and limited partnerships.

LIMITED PARTNERSHIP

A limited partnership is a partnership formed by two or more persons or entities, and having one or more general partners and one or more limited partners. General partners share equality in debts and assets while limited partners have limited debt obligations.

REGISTERED LIMITED LIABILITY PARTNERSHIP

A general partnership registered with the Secretary of State is a "registered limited liability partnership". A partner's liability in a registered limited partnership differs from that in an ordinary partnership. In a registered limited liability partnership, a partner is not individually liable, under some circumstances, for debts and obligations of the partnership arising from errors, omissions, negligence, incompetence, or malfeasance committed in the course of the partnership business by others in the partnership.

A professional tax consultant, accountant and/or attorney should be consulted before determining which legal structure best suits the requirements of the business and its owner(s). Once the legal structure of the business has been determined, the next step is to complete the necessary registration requirements.

REGISTERING A BUSINESS NAME IN TEXAS - State Requirements

All businesses operating as corporations in Texas must file articles of incorporation with the Office of the Secretary of State of Texas. If the corporation will transact business under names other than that stated in the articles of incorporation, the corporation needs to file an assumed name certificate with the Secretary of State, and with the county clerk in which the principal office and registered office of the corporation is located. The Secretary of State will perform a name search to verify that no other corporation in Texas is using the exact name selected. (This check is for corporate names only and does not include DBA filings.) To find out if a corporation is already using the name chosen, call the Secretary of State at 512-463-5555. Office personnel can do an immediate computer search to see if the name has been reserved.

Corporations, limited partnerships, and limited liability companies organized in other states or countries may transact business in Texas by obtaining a Certificate of Authority through the Secretary of State. The Corporation Section (Secretary of State) can provide forms for the certificate of authority. An out-of-state business may consider the option of creating a Texas corporation, limited partnership, or limited liability company for transaction of business in Texas.

Other forms of business entities required to file with the Secretary of State includes limited partnerships, registered limited liability partnerships, limited liability companies, professional corporation, professional associations and non-profit corporations. The Secretary of State provides a summary of the requirements for creation of these entities but does not provide forms for organizational documents except for registration of a limited liability partnership.

The Secretary of State publishes the Filing Guide, which offers guidelines for business organization document filing requirements. The Guide also includes administrative rules and sample forms promulgated by the Secretary of State. The current cost of the guide is $25 and may be purchased directly from the Secretary of State.
